C Use the brace map about the coconut tree to complete the passage below. 2.2.2(b), 3.2.1(a)

Cocount tree

- flowers
  - male, female
  - female, larger
    - mature into a fruit
- fruit
  - thick husk around a nut
  - within the shell, fleshy par – coconut meat, make coconut milk
    - dried meat – processed, make oil
- leaves and trunk
  - leaves, feather-shaped – make brooms, mats and baskets
  - trunk, light greyish brown – make bridges, houses, boats

A coconut tree is very useful. All parts of it can be used in many ways.

A cocount tree (1) _____ flowers. The female flowers are larger. A female flower will mature (2) _____.

The fruit has (3) _____ around a nut. Within the shell of the nut is a fleshy part called (4) _____. It can be eaten or grated to make (5) _____. Coconut milk is used for cooking curry or other dishes. The (6) _____ or copra can be processed to make coconut oil for cooking and making soap.

The leaves are feather-shaped. They are used for making brooms. (7) _____ _____. The tree trunk is used (8) _____ bridges, houses and boats.

A coconut tree is indeed a tree for all purposes.

coconut milk	has male and female	mats and baskets	a thick husk
dried meat	into a fruit	for making	coconut meat

LIVEWORKSHEETS