| | |
|---|---|
| Other *(*additional or extra', or 'alternative', or 'different types of)We can use other with singular uncountable nouns and with plural nouns:Some music calms people; other music has the opposite effect. (different types of music)What other books by Dickens have you read, apart from 'Oliver Twist'? (additional or extra books)If we use other before a singular countable noun, we must use another determiner (the, this, that , my, his, one, first, no… etc) before it:I don't like the red one. I prefer the other colour.Jeremy is at university; our other son is still at school | .Other* as a pronounWe can use other as a pronoun. As a pronoun, other has also a plural form, others:We have to solve this problem, more than any other, today.*I'll attach two photos to this email and I'll send others tomorrow. |
| The otherWe can use other with singular nouns and with plural nouns:The other* with a plural noun means the remaining people or things in a group or set:This computer here is new. The other computer is about five years old.The other* with a plural noun means the remaining people or things in a group or set:Joel and Karen are here, but where are the other kids? (the remaining people in a group)Where are the other two dinner plates? I can only find four. (the remaining things in a set – here six plates) | The other as a pronounWe can use the other as a pronoun, especially to refer back to something which has been mentioned already in the sentence:He had his hat in one hand and a bunch of flowers in the other.She has two kittens, one is black and the other is all white. |
| Another means 'one more' , another one, or 'an additional or extra', or 'an alternative or different'.We use another with singular nouns:Would you like another cup of tea?There is another car park a little further down the same street | Another as a pronounWe can use another as a pronoun:*The applications are examined by one committee, then passed on to another.I have already eaten two sandwiches though now I want another one. |

Another, other, the other, others or the others?

1. 80% of the students arrive on time. are always late.
2. There are two cookies left. You have one and I'll have .
3. Are there any questions?
4. Please give me chance. I promise to try harder.
5. Only half of the guests have arrived. Where are ?
6. There are six people for dinner but there are only 5 plates. We need plate.
7. I am into reading. My hobbies are cooking and surfing the net.
8. This cake is delicious. Could I have slice please?
9. I'll take cup of coffee, please. Is there another gas station here?
10. These boxes are for books. are for clothes.
11. This place isn't great. Is there place we could go to?
12. This ice cream has a sweat taste. is bitter.
13. I'm not happy with this product. Next time I'll buy brand.
14. These are not the right keys. Could you look for ones?
15. 3. I love this city. There is no place like it!
16. There were three books on the desk. One is here. Where are ?
17. 4. That dress is not formal enough for the wedding. Do you have ?
18. Some of the students are French. are German.
19. 5. Your computer is so old. Maybe you should buy .
20. I have downloaded that file. Do you want me to download that .

LIVEWORKSHEETS