Food chain

A food chain maps the eating patterns of organisms in a habitat, showing the path of food energy transfer.

are organisms that make their food. Plants are examples of producers.

eat other living things. There are two types:

or herbivores are animals that eat producers or carnivores are animals that eat primary consumers.

break down dead or organic matter. They are the last link in the chain.

mushrooms

LIVEWORKSHEETS