Spelling list 3

1. Spiteful (adj.): showing malicious will and desire to hurt

   The neighbor's spiteful comments ruined the neighborhood party for everyone

2. Sneer (verb): Express through a scornful smile

   My friend let out a sneer when the boy he didn't like fell on the floor.

3. Jeer (verb): laugh at with contempt and derision

   The team fans started to jeer at the other team when they entered the field

4. Grope (verb): feel about something uncertainly or blindly

   In the morning, I need to grope for my glasses

5. Sulk (verb): be in a huff and display one's displeasure

   My big brother sulks every time my mother asks him to help with something

6. Gilded (adj.): made from or covered with gold

   I visited a museum with gilded statues on every corner

7. Harness (noun): an arrangement of leather straps fitted to a draft animal

   The farmer needs to buy a new harness for his horse since the old one was torn

8. Stern (adj.): serious and harsh in manner or behavior

   The teacher is stern when it comes to cheating on the exam

LIVEWORKSHEETS

9. Dominion: something under control of…/ a region marked off for administrative or other purposes

   These lands are under the dominion of the Scottish King

10. Courtier: an attendant for a monarch/ a person who attends a Royal Court.

    The courtier bowed down as he presented the letter to the king

11. Plead: appeal or request earnestly

    The man began to plead to the judge not to send him to prison

12. Flushed (adj.): redness as if blood from emotions rushes to the face

    The woman's face is flushed from embarrassment because she was caught shoplifting

13. Drayed (adj.): hauled-carried. A low, heavy cart or wagon used for haulage

    The workers loaded the goods onto the drayed cart.

14. Admit (verb): declare to be true or accept the reality of something

    My sister did not want to admit that she needed help with her homework

The students should keep each word the same type when they use it in a sentence. A verb should be used as a verb, a noun should be used as a noun, and an adjective should be used as an adjective.

They cannot use these same sentences these are just examples to help them make their own sentences.

LIVEWORKSHEETS