15. Read and match questions A-E with the paragraphs. There is one extra question.

1 _____

Some are performed by actors themselves but more often they are done by highly-skilled stunt performers. Cal Gunning is one such person.

2 _____

'You have to be physically fit and good at sports like martial arts and motorbike riding. My parents had a motorbike display team when I was a baby. They used to perform and do jumps at special events. I had just learned to walk when I was put on a motorbike for the first time. Before long, I could do little jumps. I loved the thrill of it. After that, I did anything that was fast and physical from judo and mountain biking to gymnastics and trampolining. I was fearless!'

3 _____

'I had no idea at first. I just knew that doing a desk job wasn't for me. When I was 18, they were filming scenes for an action film in my town and I was an extra. I hadn't done any acting before, but it didn't matter. I had to walk across the square while there was a rooftop chase and then a guy jumped off the building in front of me. He was a stunt double and I thought, that's how I want to make a living. I've been a successful stunt performer for ten years now.'

4 _____

'It's a colourful life. You get to travel and meet famous actors, which is fun and it's well paid. In fact, the more dangerous the stunt, the more money you get, which is useful. But it gets boring at times. You can spend hours waiting on set between scenes. And it's obviously hazardous. I'd never had any painful injuries until I did this job! I get countless offers of work every year and I try and do as many as I can. Obviously, I won't be able to do this job all my life.'

- A When did you realize you wanted to be a stunt performer?
B Have you ever wondered who does the stunts in action films?
C What qualifications do you need to be a stunt performer?
D What's it like being a stunt performer?
E What makes a good stunt performer?
