Brasília is the capital city of Brazil. These days, around 2.5 million people live in the city, and there are a lot of important buildings there. Seventy years ago, there were no people and no buildings. This is because Brasília is a new city. From 1763 until 1960, the city of Rio de Janeiro was Brazil's capital, but many people weren't happy. They wanted a new capital because Rio wasn't in the center of Brazil. Today, a lot of people visit modern Brasília. The oldest building in the city is from 1956.
