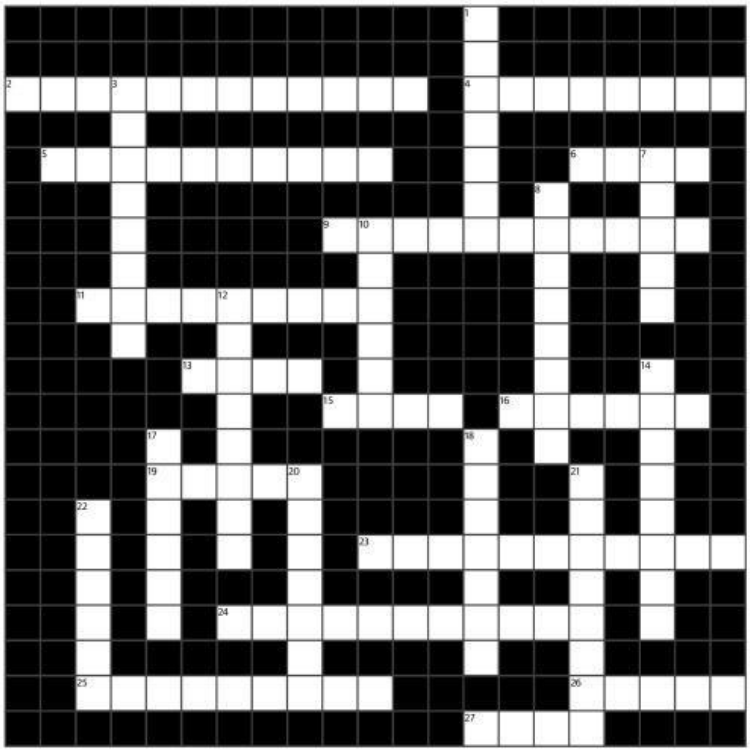
The African Elephant



Across

2 the act of preserving and protecting natural resources, including wildlife, habitats, and ecosystems.

4 To keep something in good condition by regularly checking or repairing it

5 animals that only eat plants.

6 long, pointed teeth, especially of elephants, that extend outside their mouth and are often used for digging or defense.

9 the degree of warmth or coldness of something, usually measured with a thermometer.

11 organisms that live on or inside another organism and benefit at the expense of their host.

13 To engage in an activity for enjoyment or recreation, often involving interaction.

15 group of animals of the same species that live or move together.

16 a type of animal that has fur or hair and typically gives birth to live young and feeds them with milk.

19 to arrive at or achieve a certain place, goal, or point after effort.

23 To recognize or show the difference between two or more things.

24 a social structure where females, particularly mothers, lead or hold authority over a group.

25 a community of living organisms interacting with each other and their environment.

26 a long, flexible part of an elephant's body used for feeding, drinking, and communication.

27 to confront or deal with a difficult situation or challenge directly.

Down

1 to create or put together something, such as music, poetry, or writing.

3 the ability to continue living or exist, especially in difficult or dangerous conditions.

7 To provide or supply something for someone's needs or benefit.

8 tropical grassland ecosystems with scattered trees, typically found in areas with a seasonal rainfall pattern.

10 to make sure or guarantee that something will happen or be the case.

12 living or being alone, without companions or a group.

14 the state of being fully developed in terms of physical or mental growth.

17 to make something new or original that did not exist before.

18 To keep something safe from harm or damage.

20 the natural environment or place where an organism lives and grows.

21 To control or manage something to ensure it functions properly or remains stable.

22 referring to something that originates or grows naturally in a specific place or environment.

LIVEWORKSHEETS