"THE STORM"

Listen & choose the correct words.

She sits among the pieces of broken glass /windows and photographs
Reluctantly releases the last of what was her past
It struck without a notice / warning or did she just ignore the signs
In those black / dark clouds forming behind her silver lines.
Then the door it slammed like lightning / thunder and the tears they fell like rain.
And the warnings from her family whirl like a hurricane / tornado.
Oh, she's drowning in emotions and she cannot reach the shore.
She's alive but can she survive the torment / storm.
A broken / breaking jewel box dancer lies in pieces down the hall.
She's finding out the answers don't change nothing at all.
It's time that she stopped searching / looking for who's to blame or what went wrong.
The only thing for certain is he's gone, she's got to move on.
Then the door it slammed like thunder and the tears they fell like snow / rain.
And the advice / warnings from her family whirl like a hurricane.
She's drowning in emotions and she cannot reach the beach / shore.
She's alive / living but can she survive the storm.
Someday days just roll on by without a gray cloud / fog in the sky.
She keeps telling herself, "I will make it on my own".
And her friends they've all gone back to their days / lives,
Thinking she will be alright,
As she races through / during the night to make it home.
The door it slams / booms like thunder and the tears they fall like rain.
And the warnings from her family turn / whirl like a hurricane.
Oh, she's drowning in emotions and she cannot reach / get to the shore.
She's alive but can she endure / survive the storm.
