Bram Stoker

Read the information on the webpage and complete the text.

Bram Stoker (1847–1912) was an Irish writer, best known for his popular Gothic novel Dracula (1897). Born in Dublin, he overcame childhood illness and studied 1_____ at Trinity College before working at Dublin Castle as a 2 _____. He also became a respected theater 3 _____ for the Dublin Evening Mail.
Stoker's career took a major turn when he befriended actor Sir Henry Irving and became his manager at the Lyceum Theatre in 3 _____, where he worked for nearly 30 years. Alongside his theater work, he continued writing novels and stories, with Dracula eventually becoming world-famous and inspiring countless adaptations.
Although the novel was only modestly 4 _____ during his lifetime, Dracula gained enormous success after his death, especially through films like the 1931 version starring 5 _____. Stoker died in London in 1912, leaving behind a legacy that shaped modern vampire fiction and popular culture.

LIVEWORKSHEETS