Listen and look. There is one example. What's Kim's job?

Man: Hello. Is your sister working in an office now?
Girl: You mean Kim? Yes, but only for about an hour each day. She isn't a secretary!
Man: Is she an art/ artist then?
Girl: She's an engineer. She designs skyscrapers/ skycrap most of the time but bridges/ bride as well.

Can you see the tick? Now you listen and tick the box.

1. How does Kim go to work?

Man: Does Kim take the bus to work?
Girl: She could do that, but she needs to drive there and to travel/ fly to different parts of the city each day.
Man: Can't she cycle? There's so much traffic!
Girl: I think she'd like to, but she needs/ lead to carry too much.

2. What time does Kim start work?

Man: What time does Kim have to be at work?
Girl: Well, she has to get up at a quarter past/to six. Then she has breakfast and leaves home at a quarter past/ to seven.
Man: So when does she arrive in her office?
Girl: At half past seven. It's really early but she doesn't mind.

---

3. Where does Kim have lunch?

Man: Where does Kim take her lunch break? Does she go home?
Girl: She doesn't have enough time to do that, Mr Low.
Man: Is there a café in the flat/ building where she works, then?
Girl: Yes. But she usually takes sandwiches and eats them in the park. She likes doing that best.

---

4. What was Kim's first job?

Man: Is this Kim's first job? She told me she wanted to be the manager of a clothes shop!
Girl: Well, she didn't do that. But she worked at a police station once.
Man: Really?
Girl: Yes, but she did/ didn't have to wear a uniform. She worked in the kitchen there.

5. What does Kim like most about her job?

Man: Is your sister pleased with her new job?
Girl: She had to study/learn for a long time, but she loves it. She really enjoys/ joy being outside, too.
Man: Does she have to go to lots of meetings, too?
Girl: Yes, but she doesn't enjoy those very much. And she hates/ late talking on the telephone!
