

Send Email

From: amy1999@hotmail.com

I am going to go on holiday!!!!

Dear Lucy,
 How are you? I hope you are OK. I'm fine. I'm planning my holiday. I am going to New York in July with my boyfriend, Eric! We're going to fly there. Our flight is really cheap, only 120 dollars to get return tickets! We've always wanted to visit NY! We're going to stay one week in a very nice hotel in Manhattan. We are going to see the most famous sights; we really want to see the Statue of Liberty and Ellis Island ! We are so excited about this holiday!
 And I'm going to do lots of shopping! NY is great to buy cheap but nice clothes! Eric is going to visit different museums because he doesn't like shopping. I think that museums are boring !
 In the evening we are going to see some shows in Broadway and dance in a club. NY has a fantastic nightlife! I am going to send you a postcard!
 Bye!
 Amy

cancel Send Email

A) Qui a rédigé cet email ? Pour l'envoyer à qui ?

_____ wrote this email. She is going to send it to her friend _____

B) Il faut répondre avec des phrases complètes en anglais:

1. Where is Amy going to go?
2. Is she going to go to New York alone?
3. Are Amy and Eric going to go sightseeing?
4. What are they going to do in the evenings?

C) Vrai ou faux ? Il faut recopier une phrase en anglais pour prouver si c'est vrai ou faux (une phrase de l'email)

1. Amy a déjà acheté les billets d'avion.
2. Amy et Eric vont dormir chez des amis.
3. Eric va faire du shopping avec Amy.
4. Amy aime visiter des musées.
5. Amy a prévu d'envoyer une carte postale à Lucy.

Vocabulary : Find the English equivalent in the email

- espérer :
- un vol (avion) :
- à bas prix :
- des billets aller retour :
- les plus célèbres attractions touristiques:
- des habits :
- ennuyeux :
- des spectacles :