①From the beginning, Sally was different. She was ②[smaller/ as small] than her friends, but she could jump higher. She enjoyed jumping and ③[practice/ practiced] ④it every day.

Soon, Sally and her friends left home. They swam down the river and went to the ocean. ⑤On her way, Sally practiced her special jumps.

Years later, Sally and her friends had to go home to the river and ⑥[lay/ laid] eggs. They swam against the current and jumped over many waterfalls.

Then, they met a bear.

"We'll never make it," said one salmon.

"We'll all die. We should go back," said another.

"No," Sally said, "Keep ⑦swim. I will go first. Don't worry and trust me."

Sally swam faster than her friends. Then, she jumped with all her might. She sprang up one way and then another. It was very surprising. The bear finally lost focus. All the salmon swam away safely.

Sally and her friends were home at last. They laid millions of eggs. Before long, baby salmon came out of the eggs. Sally saved a lot of lives with her jumps.
