Samantha was excited when she saw a letter on the table. It had her name on it, written in a familiar handwriting. It was from Grandma Rose, who lived in the countryside. Samantha hadn't seen her grandmother for over six months, so this letter made her smile immediately.

She opened it carefully and began to read. Grandma told her about her garden. The roses were blooming beautifully, and the tomatoes were growing fast. Grandma also mentioned that she had adopted a small dog named Max. "He barks a lot," she wrote, "but he is friendly and loves cuddles!"

In the letter, Grandma invited Samantha to visit during the school holiday. She promised they would bake cookies together, go for long walks, and read books in the garden. Samantha read the letter twice, folded it gently, and placed it inside her diary. She couldn't wait to visit Grandma Rose and meet Max.
