Long live true friendship!

Dear friend,

I have been thinking about our great, long lasting friendship and I have reached _____ conclusion that _____ best place in _____ world to be is _____ one where we find real friends. So, _____ best place in the world is the one where I know I will find you!
In these planet dominated by hypocrisy and false relationships, it's difficult to conquer _____ true friendship. That's why I am sure that I will do everything within my reach to always have your trust.
My biggest wish is that our friendship will withstand _____time and all _____ traps of destiny, and it's never contaminated by _____ intrigue and lies, never contaminated by _____ envy or pride and instead will always be crowned by _____ loyalty and sincerity.
To have _____ friend like you is to know that happiness exists and is near and that no difficulty in my path will be insuperable. Count on me always, I count on you forever!

Your friend,

Tim
