Senses

Poems

I can see a _____, glowing through the rain
I can see the _____ in a speeding train
I can see quite close up, I can see quite _____
I can see forever when I see a _____.

I can smell the _____, falling on the grass
I can smell the paint and paper in my ____ class
I can smell a _____ smell, also something good
I can smell my parents _____ lovely food.

I can hear the _____ blow, trying to get in
I can hear a hungry _____, climbing on our bin
I can hear a whisper, I can hear a _____
I can hear supporters, _____ for their team.

I can touch my _____, soft and smooth and cool
I can touch some bubbles, splashing in the _____
I can touch a high shelf, I can touch my _____
I can touch the petals of a _____ rose.

I can taste an ice cream, creamy and so _____
I can taste some strong cheese (just like _____ feet!)
I can taste a sour lime, also bitter _____
I can taste the salt air, when I'm near the _____.

Senses are our helpers they let the world in _____ with our tongues and _____ with our skin _____ with our noses, _____ with our eyes _____ with our ears - each day has a surprise!

Gillian Craig

ART
CHEERING PEOPLE
COOKING
TOES TOUCHING SCREAM
RAINDROPS FAR
TEA HEARING
POOL
CAT
BAD
SMELLING
SMELLY
STAR TASTING PERFECT
SWEET
SEA
WIND
PILLOW RAINBOW
SEEING

© British Council, 2018 The United Kingdom's international organisation for educational opportunities and cultural relations. We are registered in England as a charity.

LIVEWORKSHEETS