My name is Taylor and I turned 22 years old last month. I live in my own apartment now, so I study and work. (In/On) weekdays, I go to college. I hate Mondays because I always have to wake up (early/late), around 5:00a.m to catch the bus on time. I have classes all day and I get home pretty (early/late) so I just go to sleep immediately. On Tuesdays, I sleep (at/until) 10:00a.m to wake up (after/before) noon. I don't have classes (at/on) Wednesdays, so I clean my house, cook, do the laundry and sometimes go out with some friends. Thursdays and Fridays are busy days. I also have to go (early/late) to the university, but I get home earlier, (after/before) midnight. So I prepare dinner (around/until) 8:00p.m to watch TV (after/until) 10:30p.m, then I go to sleep. I really don't like Saturdays either because I have to be at work (around/early) 7:00a.m. I have a part-time job in a store (in/on) the morning (at/until) 3:00p.m. So, (after/before) work, I go home and do some homework, eat a lot, listen to music and then take a long shower. I usually go to sleep very (early/late) at night. But there's no problem because I can sleep (around/until) noon on Sundays. I always visit my family (in/on) weekends. We have a big lunch (in/around) 12:00p.m. I have a younger sister so she helps our mom to clean a (after/before) lunch. Dad likes to sit in the yard with me to talk about how everything is going with college. I like my daily routine, but it can be better!
