

MODALS OF DEDUCTION

1 Choose the correct words.

- A Sam said he was going to Singapore next week. He might/must be flying as it's a long way.
- B A: Look – is that Helen?
B: What? It can't/must be. She's in New York at the moment!
- C I heard them speaking Greek so they must/can't be from Greece.
- D They speak Portuguese, so they must/could be from Brazil.
- E May told me she had never been to a cold country, so she might/can't be from Canada.
- F A: Do you think Bob is on his way home?
B: He must/can't be. It's only four o'clock and he doesn't finish until five.
- D It only takes thirty minutes to get there by car so it might/must be quite close.
- E A: I tried calling John's home number but there was no answer.
B: Oh, he might/can't be at work.

Rewrite these observations with the modal verb in parentheses so that the meaning is the same.

- a I'm sure you're really cold! (must)
You must be really cold!
- b I'm sure you're kidding. (must)
- c I'm sure your keys aren't far away. (can't)

d Maybe you won't enjoy the movie. (might not) e I'm sure you know who she is. (must) f I'm sure it's not far from here. (can't)

g Maybe you'll meet the love of your life. (might)

h I'm sure she isn't that old. (can't)