

Elige según corresponde.

1. Within the financial statement, there is are economic information organized and summarized by the accountants.
2. There is are a key source of information: the financial report.
3. There is are three elements of information that investors and creditors observe: financial position, profitability and risk.
4. In many companies' websites, there is are a financial information section.
5. In the cash flows, there is are not movements between the items that constitute cash because these components belong to the cash management.
6. If there is are an increase in an asset, there is are a decrease in another asset or an increase in liability.
7. There is are business activities that are very important to the manager: establishing goals and strategies, obtaining financing, making investments, and conducting operations.
8. There is are two similar financial accounting systems: the GAAP and the IFRS.