STONE SOUP

"What are you doing?" asked a little girl, who had been watching him from a nearby _____ .

"I'm making stone soup," John told her.

"Stone soup!" she cried. "Is it good?"

"You've never had stone soup?" he asked. "Stone soup is _____ !"

The little girl _____ into the pot of water. She saw the stone at the bottom of the pot.

"I have some extra potatoes," she told him. "Would _____ be good in stone soup?"

"I like stone soup just as it is," John said. "But I think potatoes will make it even better."

The little girl smiled. "Let's put them in!" she said as she dropped the potatoes into the _____ water.
