

Notes

Fill in each blank with the correct word.

3.1 Reproduction in humans

1. Humans reproduce by _____ which involves male and female reproductive cells.
2. _____ occurs when a male reproductive cell (sperm) fuses with a female reproductive cell (egg).
3. In humans, fertilisation occurs _____ the body of a female. This is known as internal fertilisation.

3.2 Male reproductive system

1. The male reproductive system consists of the _____ (singular: testis) and the _____.

Parts of the male reproductive system

2. The male reproductive organs are found _____ of the male body.

3. The _____ of a matured male produce millions of sperms.
4. The sperm-carrying fluid leaves the male body through the _____.
5. Sperms can only be seen under a _____.
6. A _____ consists of a head, a middle piece and a tail.

7. The _____ in the head of the sperm contains hereditary information.
8. The _____ enables the sperm to swim towards the egg.

3.3 Female reproductive system

1. The female reproductive system consists of the _____ (singular: ovary), _____ and _____.

2. The female reproductive organs are found _____ the female body.