LO: To plan and write a non-chronological report about the Romans

Using all the information that you have about the Romans, plan and write a report about what you have learned. You can revise information from your Humanities notes and English comprehensions.

Use the planning steps on the next few pages to help you plan your writing. Remember planning is only key words and ideas not full sentences.

Once you have completed your planning you can write your report.

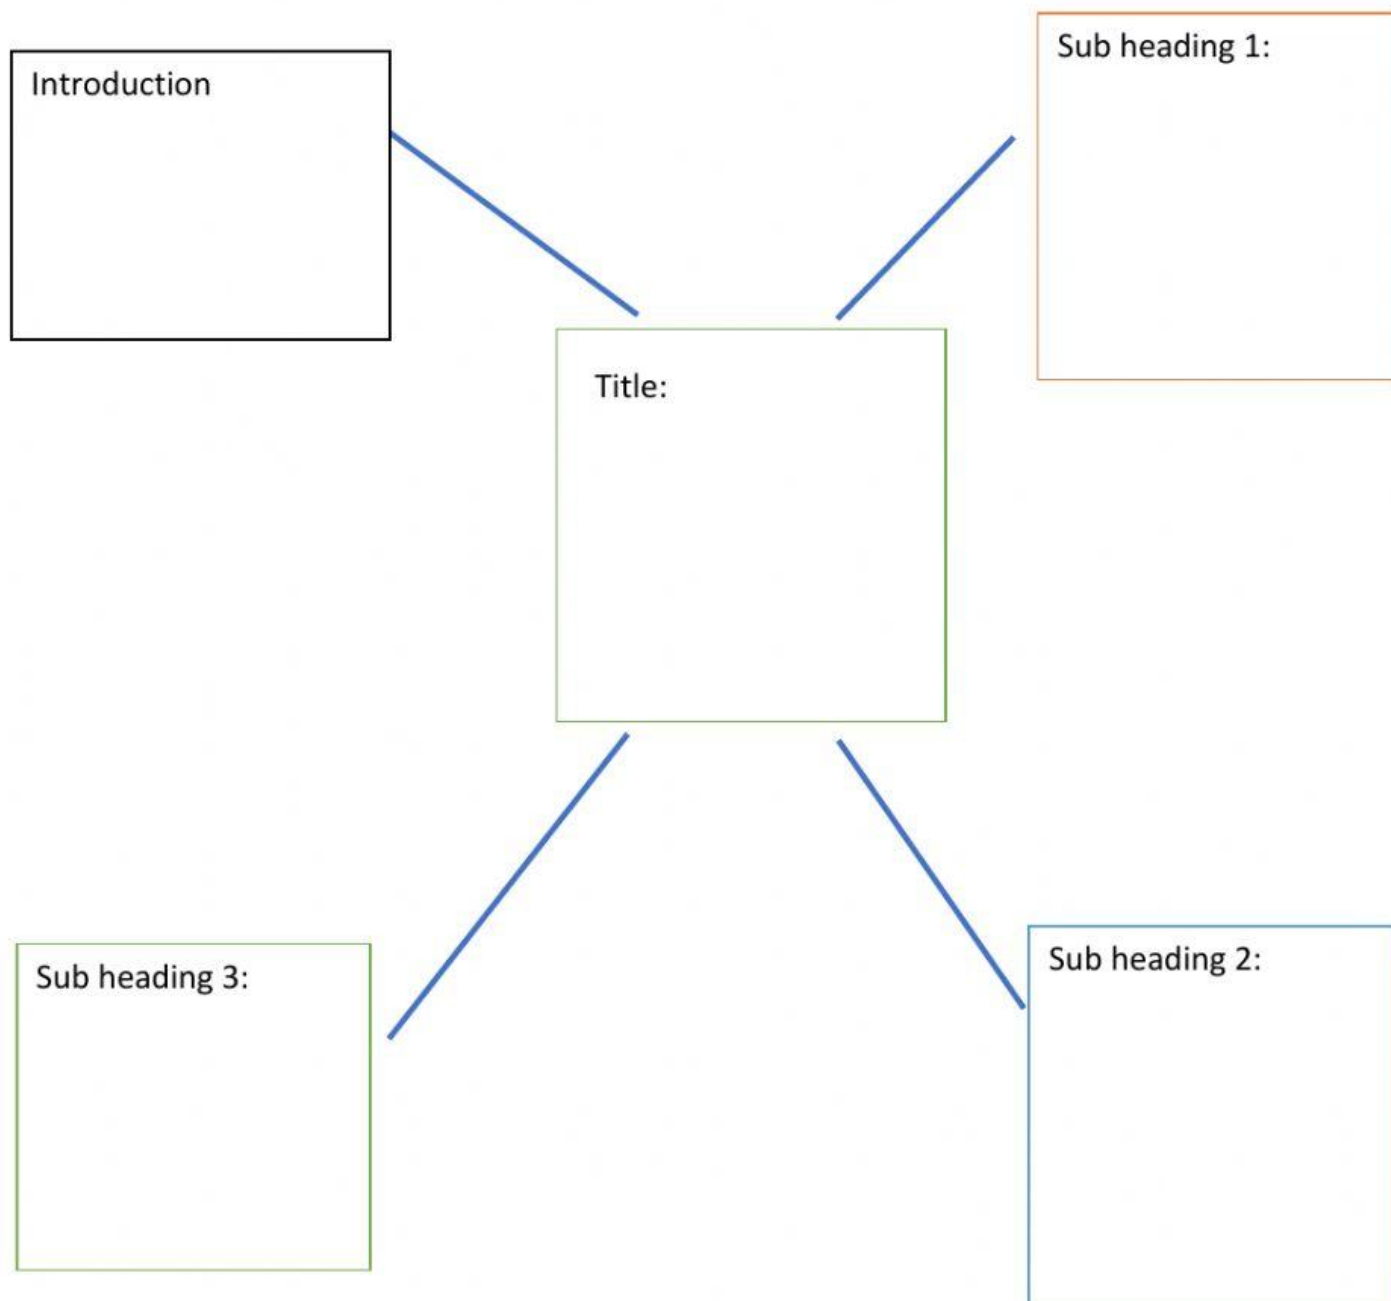

Your report should include:

Make sure that your report is written in the past tense. Use formal language.

Step 1: Write down your title and subheadings.

Step 2: Write down key ideas for your first paragraph.

Step 3: Write down your ideas for your second paragraph.

Step 4: Write down your ideas for your third paragraph.
