Discourse Types

Drag the discourse types and drop in the correct spaces provided.

Definitions	Discourse Type
The use of sensory details in adjectives and adverbs to give the reader a vivid idea of what is being discussed.
Tells a story.
Using facts to defend a point of view and to change another's mind
Writing that influences or changes the behavior of the reader through the use of pathos (appeals to emotions), logos (appeals to reason) and ethos (appeals to ethics)
Writing that gives information or explains a concept
Writing that intends to tell the life of a character through the use of dramatic elements
Writing that reflects intense feeling through the use of poetic techniques
Encompasses all types of writing that is in paragraph form

Discourse Types

Poetry Prose Narrative Argumentative

Descriptive Persuasive

Expository Drama

LIVEWORKSHEETS