

THE VIOLIN

Read the text and answer the questions.

When musician Colin Baker won five hundred thousand pounds in a competition, it seemed the answer to his dreams. At most immediately, he bought a house and made his own CD recording of some classical music. He intended to save the rest of his money and retire, even though he was only in his late forties.

Then he saw a violin in a shop. It was of such high quality that even top professional players are rarely able to afford one like it. "I'd never felt money was important until then." He explained. "Even with the money I'd won. I wasn't sure I could afford to buy the violin, so I started to leave the shop. Then I thought I'd just try it, and I fell in love with the beautiful sound it made. I knew it was perfect both for live concerts and for recordings."

Now all the money has gone. "My wife can't have the study room I promised her, and I can't retire," says Colin, "but it doesn't matter." His wife says, "I sometimes wish he was more responsible with money, but I'm still pleased for him. I've always helped him in his career, as he's helped me by sharing everything. We weren't unhappy with our jobs, so we didn't really need the money to escape, and although Colin considered retiring. I know he wouldn't be happy doing that - he loves music too much. I think he did the right thing."
