

Do you describe your feelings using emojis and emoticons?

The pet sitter: I am 😞 . Your cat is 🐱 .

What she actually meant:

Your cat fell into the drain and she turned all muddy.

Wife : Hubby, do you know that I was a 🐙 ?

Husband: Really? Then what are you doing here?

Wife : I gave up my sea life to be 🧡 but I miss my pearls.

Husband: Should I let you return to the 🌊 ?

Wife : No. I know something better. Can you buy me a 💍 ?

Sometimes, it's better to describe your feelings with words to avoid misunderstandings.

We use adjectives to describe our feelings. In a sentence, adjectives can go before a noun or after the verbs be and look.

- I'm having a nice weekend.
- I was really embarrassed.
- I was jealous when my crush talked to a really beautiful girl.
- She was crazy when she had the emotional meltdown.

Task:

Order the words to make sentences.

1. computer game / The / looks / fun

2. was / The / difficult / very / computer game

3. She's / a / team / captain / great

4. were / in the stadium / some / happy / There / supporters

5. unhappy / looked / after / the match / They