Reading Comprehension

Instruction: Read the story then answer each sentence correctly?

A tree house is a wonderful place to play. If you hide behind the leaves, no one will see you. Sit still, and you might see squirrels or birds in the tree. In a tree house you can read a book. You can daydream about what you will be someday. You can even pretend to be a pirate or an explorer. Ask a friend to come to your tree house, and you can have more fun!

1) A good title for this story would be:

- a) A Tree House
- b) Hiding in the Leaves
- c) A Good Way to Watch Birds

2) Name two things you can pretend to be in a tree house.

3) Why do you need to sit still to watch birds and squirrels?

4) Why might you hide behind the leaves?

5) What might you do with a friend in your tree house?
