

UNIVERSITY DEGREES

Listen to a university student talk about the different degrees that are available. As you listen, complete the sentences with what she says.

- The first degree you can get after graduating high school is called a _____ degree.
- This degree can be done in _____ years.
- A Master's degree can be done _____ you complete a Bachelor's.
- It is possible to do a Master's in another _____.
- _____ can help you to pay for your Master's studies.
- In _____, you can teach Bachelor's students and get your Master's degree for free!
- After a Master's, you can go on and study a doctorate or a _____.

SCRIPT

When you graduate high school, your options are endless for your future. Many people go on to study what they like at the university. The first degree you can receive is called a Bachelor's degree. This can usually be completed in four to five years. Nowadays, a Bachelors degree is worth what a high school diploma was worth one generation ago. So many students decide to continue to a Master's degree, which can usually be earned in two years. A Master's degree allows you to specialize even further in a specific field. There are Masters degrees related to all professions. Some people even decide to do a Masters in another country, like Spain or the United States. There are many scholarships available to help you to pay for a Masters. In the case of the United States, if you agree to teach Bachelors students, you can get your Masters for free, and also get paid a small salary every month! If you get your Masters and you still want more education, you can go on to a PhD or doctorate and people will call you "doctor"! The sky is the limit for your education. Nothing can stop the power of your mind!