My name is Matt and I like computers very much. Now I am in a really interesting computer science museum with my teacher and my school friends. We are sitting at a big table where there are five computers and we can play games with them. I'm playing a science game with my friend George. He is very intelligent and knows a lot about computer games. I have got a computer at home. It's in my bedroom, next to the window. I use it to do my homework and also to watch videos. My sister hasn't got a computer because she is very little, but she played some video games with me yesterday.

1. Matt is at school now.
2. There's one computer on the table at the museum.
3. George is Matt's brother.
4. Matt watches videos on his computer.
5. Matt played with his sister yesterday.
