Hi, I'm Charlie. At the moment my family and I (1) travel / are travelling around Britain in a camper van. A camper van is like a caravan, but you (2) drive / drives it. It's (3) better / best than camping because it's got beds, a toilet and a kitchen! I'm writing about our journey on this blog.

Day 10

We've (4) leaved / left the beautiful mountains of the Lake District and now we're in Northumberland, in north-east England. (5) Did you knew / Did you know there's a famous Roman wall here? It's called Hadrian's Wall and it's 117 km long! We're (6) going / going to walk along part of it today.

Yesterday we visited an island called Lindisfarne. While we (7) were walking / walked around the island, we saw some seals in the water. Have you (8) never seen / ever seen a seal? They're big, (9) noisy / noise and very cute!

That's all for now. I (10) tell / 'll tell you about Hadrian's Wall later if I (11)'m not / won't be too tired! ☺

(12) Has / Have you ever been to Northumberland? Write a comment about it here!
