For each question, write the correct word in the space provided on your answer sheet.

Car Boot Sales

Are you moving home or simply running (0) away of space? Do you have rooms and wardrobes stuffed full (9) by unused items? Rather than just chucking things out, think about the other options for getting rid of (10) yours unused things. As the saying goes, one man's trash (11) was another man's treasure, and there's no better example of this in action, than at a car boot sale. A car boot sale is a great way to get rid of old stuff (12) quickest and earn some extra cash while you are at it. It is also pretty fun, especially if the sun is shining. Car boot sales are normally for your (13) new things that just are not worth putting on Lazada or Shopee, for example. Now, we are not saying that selling online doesn't have (14) their perks. It is a great option for higher priced, (15) unuse or unworn items. But if you love the hustle and bustle of a market and get a kick out of haggling (16) through things you were going to throw away anyway, get yourself to the nearest car boot sale and get stuck in.

A PIRATE'S TREASURE

The book A Pirate's Treasure was written by Olivia Liu. It is a young adult book about two boys named Ming Khang and Nimrod. They came from poor families. They wanted to help their families out but were in a dilemma. They were at a loss of what to do.

One day, while collecting firewood in a jungle, the boys came across something unusual. Nimrod was gathering firewood when he saw a torn yellowish piece of paper sticking out of a pile of rocks. On closer inspection, he saw that it was a map detailing hidden treasure. Nimrod called Ming Khang excitedly to help read the map. According to the map, they first had to travel to Lilos Island to get the key to the treasure chest. After that, they had to set sail for Kemin Island where the treasure chest was buried. The boys decided to find the buried treasure.

Ming Khang borrowed his father's old boat. The boys then packed a few things and sailed towards Lilos Island. Along the journey, the boys faced a few obstacles. The boys even saved a dolphin and a turtle in the process.

I find the book an interesting read. I stayed up late and read it in one sitting. It is filled with thrilling moments. You can sympathise with the main characters and understand what they went through on their journey. The story is rather unusual. I especially like the happy ending. I would certainly recommend this book to teenagers. It is an exciting young adult book. You can get this book at Rachel's Book Barn or Book Addicts.

AN UNFORTUNATE EXPERIENCE

As the exam drew closer, I got really nervous and tense. 35 _____ There was no leisure time at all and I always buried myself in huge piles of books. As far as I can recall, I spent my days studying, eating and struggling for a bit of sleep. Finally, the important day came and I was in my worst shape ever. 36 _____ Then I was really under a great deal of pressure to rush to school. Luckily, I was on time but I still didn't do well in the paper. 37 _____ My eyelids seemed to be weighed down by stones and my hands were sweating. The words were swimming around in my head but none of it made sense. 38 _____ However, I did manage to sit for every paper but failed to do well in them. After the 'tragic' exam, my body just couldn't take it any longer. 39 _____ It was truly awful. My head was spinning and my whole body seemed to be 'boiling'. The teachers noticed that I was in great pain and sent me to the hospital. The doctor explained that I have a high fever and needed to be warded for a week. A week later, I was discharged from the hospital. Although I had not recovered completely, I insisted on going to school to get my results. 40 _____ I realised then that all my efforts were in vain. From then onwards, I made sure that I spend my time equally between work and play and never repeated the same mistake again.

A	I collapsed in school.
B	I didn't watch any television or do anything else except study.
C	I learnt that "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy".
D	I was extremely exhausted and my eyes were puffy.
E	What I got in return was a week in the hospital and failing grades.
F	Firstly, I woke up late.
G	Needless to say I had done badly in all the subjects.
H	I really couldn't concentrate.
