Values-Based Education

What does VBE stand for? It stands for values-based education. When it comes to values in Education, only positive values should be included, in order to make positive changes in education. It is assumed that ethical thinking comes from families, but this can no longer be 100% true, because families are not the same as centuries ago. Therefore, schools must also be a foundation to build an ethically-based society. This does not mean that families have nothing to do with teaching values. Instead, both schools and families must play an important role in teaching values to children and students.
