Where I live, by Alicia Gómez

I live in a big town in the north of Spain. In the past it was a small town, but now there are a lot of new buildings. There's a school and there are a lot of shops. There isn't a shopping centre.

We live in a block of flats. It's in the centre of the town next to a big square. The square wasn't very nice in the past. But now there are trees and a playground. It's my favourite place.
