Dr Sam's Day

Read about Dr Sam's day and use his narratives to tell what he does in a day at the zoo. Change the words to third person pronouns. The first picture has been done for you.

My name is Dr Sam. I am a vet. I work at Singapore Zoo. I start work at 8 o'clock every day. I walk around the zoo visiting the animals. I talk about the animals' health and feeding with the Zookeeper. I take time getting to know all of the animals.

I visit the panda, who is sick. The panda knows me because I visit everyday. The panda lets me take its temperature and look at its eyes. I write down its temperature in my notebook.

I visit the giraffe's enclosure to see the baby giraffe, which is two days old. I measure the height of the baby giraffe. It is two metres tall. I write two metres in my notebook.

I visit the bear. I look at its long, sharp claws and decide they need cutting. Bears can be dangerous animals. I give it an injection to make it sleep. Then I can do it safely. I cut the bear's claws with my nail clippers.

I return to the Animal Health Centre. I put a monkey from the monkey enclosure to sleep so that I can brush its teeth and take out a bad tooth.

At the end of the day, I go to my office and write up all my notes from the day.
