

Narrative Writing

When you write about what happens in class, you remember details better and gain a deeper understanding of the subject.

Writing Prompt: Use the blank page below to write a narrative story about a time when you had to find the percent of an amount. Remember to include an introduction that includes the setting, character (you), problem. Then, a body that states the step you took to solve the problem (changing the percent to a decimal and then multiplying it by the amount). Finally, a conclusion that shows how you felt afterward.

Narrative Writing Rubrics	Points
Introduction (Setting, Characters, Problem)	30
Body (Show steps taken to solve the problem)	50
Conclusion (What you learned and how you felt afterward)	20
Total

Title: _____