

CONNECTORS OF CONSEQUENCE

They express the consequence of an action or of a situation.

Punctuation signs are important, and these connectors are usually between pauses.

Look at these examples.

She didn't like the atmosphere. She left the party.

= She didn't like the atmosphere, so she left the party

= She didn't like the atmosphere. { Therefore,
As a result,
Consequently,
In consequence, } she left the party

Descartes

"I think, therefore, I am"

Join these sentences using a connector given:

He couldn't attend the meeting because he missed the train. (so)

=

I did not buy those shoes because I could not afford them (therefore)

=

Notes: