Name: _____ Date: _____

Drawing Conclusion

Good readers are like detectives. They use clues from what they read and what they already know to figure out what the author is talking about.

Instructions: Read the sentences in each box. Then answer the question that follows.

I am a person. The classroom is my office. I work with children. Who am I? _____	I hold books, and pencils. I go on your back. You take me to school. What am I? _____
I am an animal. I live in the ocean. I have lots of teeth. What am I? _____	I am big and long. I have many seats. People ride me every day. What am I? _____

PCRA

LIVEWORKSHEETS