SOMEONE TO ADMIRE

In the present time, there are different ways to plan and control the number of children a couple wants to have and when. Many organizations today encourage women to study and become professionals, and then also have children if they desire.

BEFORE START: Answer this question:

a. Do you know who Matilde Hidalgo is?

.....

Read the dialogue

Grandchild: Grandma! Why did women have so many children in the past?

Grandma: Well, many years ago, women did not have all the opportunities we have now. We couldn't vote in elections, finish school, or study in a university. We were supposed to stay home and take care of our kids and husbands.

Grandchild: But my mom is a doctor. She went to medical school.

Grandma: Yes, dear. There are more and more professional women now. That is because in 1924, there was a very brave woman from Loja named Matilde Hidalgo*. She fought for her right to vote and to study a career just as Ecuadorian men could do at the time. Her persistence and hard work helped her succeed, not only professionally, but also as a loving mother, and a generous and humble human being.*

Grandchild: Wow! What an amazing story grandma. Thanks for telling me. I think Matilde Hidalgo is definitely someone to admire.
