Hey guys! My name's Leo. I'm 19 years old and I'm from Manchester in the UK. I'm at business college in London and right now I'm in my favorite study place. It's a bookshop near my college. There's a library at my college, but it isn't always a good place to study. Why? There isn't any coffee, or any music. In the Big Read bookshop, there's a big table with space for my laptop and folders. There are big, red comfortable sofas. There's free wifi too. There is great coffee and there are fantastic cakes, and they aren't very expensive. From 9 to 11 in the morning, the cakes are half price for students. There are lots of books on the shelves, and also lots of magazines, and there's a noticeboard on the wall with posters about local events.
