Inspiring artists

I.

For many years, the famous artist Chris Ofili has used elephant dung in his paintings as a symbol of his African heritage.

One of his best-known works is his No Woman No Cry, the title of one of Bob Marley's songs.

The painting is a tribute to the family of Stephen Lawrence, a London teenager who was murdered by a racist gang. The boy's face can be seen in each of the crying woman's tears. The painting stands on two dried, varnished lumps of elephant dung. A third is used as the pendant of the necklace.

II.

English artist Rachel Whiteread creates elegant and poetic sculptures which typically take the form of casts.

Since the late 1980's, she has created unusual sculptures of everyday domestic items. One of her most famous sculptures was House- a concrete cast of the inside of a town house.

Rachel Whiteread has also used materials like plaster, rubber, and styrofoam to define the space around or inside objects and buildings.

III.

Tracey Emin's Roman Standard, which features a small bronze bird on top of a four-meter high bronze pole, is a tribute to Liverpool's famous symbol the Liver Bird. Since 1992, this artist has made a series of drawings and prints of birds.

For her, birds are the angels of this earth that represent freedom, strength and femininity.

The sculpture is the size of a sparrow. It disappears when the people view it from the front and only reappears as the viewers move left to right. It has been very controversial, as many people have complained about the high cost of such a small sculpture.

IV.

Since he was an art student, Andy Goldsworthy has worked with natural materials to make unique sculptures. He usually works outdoors to create structures out of stone, snow, ice sand, wood or leaves. A breath-taking but temporary example of his work is the ice arch in the picture. He built it one early winter morning in Canada- as the sun became warmer, the arch gradually melted and finally collapsed.
