

World population growth

World Population Growth Is Almost Entirely Concentrated in the World's Poorer Countries.

World Population (in Billions): 1950-2050

Source: United Nations Population Division, World Population Prospects: The 2008 Revision.

Answer only TRUE or FALSE

- The growth in the world's population has slowed down in this century.
- Farming provides more food than hunter-gathering.
- Over 90% of South Africans do not have clean and safe drinking water.
- Breast milk is better for babies than powdered milk.
- Vaccinations help to prevent people from getting certain diseases.