

5th Grade Homework.

1. Write the elements of the trophic relationship:

decomposer	primary consumer	tertiary consumer
	secondary consumer	producer

a) _____

b) _____

c) _____

e) _____

d) _____

2. Complete the definitions. Use the words from the box:

city	woodland	prairie	pond
------	----------	---------	------

- a) _____ ecosystems belong to the aquatic ecosystems. You can find specific living things such as: frogs.
- b) _____ ecosystem is an example of an artificial ecosystem.
- c) You can find mice, foxes and trees in a _____ ecosystem.
- d) The _____ ecosystem share its non - living things with the savannah (rivers and lakes). There are some living things such as: rabbits or grass.

3. Complete the table with the following sentences. Copy the sentences. There is an example:

a) There are two types: coastal and deep - sea.

b) Is the extraction of rocks and minerals.

c) There are two types: underground and opencast.

d) Is the growing of trees and maintenance of forests.

e) Coastal fishing is close to the coast.

f) These activities are common in Galicia, País Vasco and Castilla y León

Fishing
Mining
Forestry

4. Read the sentences. Then write T (true) or F (false):

a) In extensive farming, animals live in small fields and are fed by the farmer. ☐

b) Dry crops are watered by the rain. ☐

c) In extensive livestock farming, animals are grown in stables or indoor pens. ☐

d) Tomatoes, beans and melons are typical crops in irrigated farming. ☐

e) Arable farming is divided into: dry farming and extensive farming. ☐

f) The animals eat what grows on the land and large pastures, in intensive livestock farming. ☐