For hundreds of years human beings have been (1)_____ on other people for their (2)_____. When we lived in tribes of (3)_____ and (4)_____, if your social group didn't accept you -you died. Nowadays if your peers don't accept you, it doesn't mean a slow (5)_____ death but it hurts. You are anxious to be part of the social group. However, if you can overcome your (6)_____, your life will be made much richer by its human (7)_____, and you will find yourself wondering why you were so shy to begin with. Science may tell us we are born either (8)_____ and extroverted or more (9)_____ and shy, but there are ways for introverts to become more sociable and join in the party with all the extroverts.
