The Wolf and the Crane

A wolf was one day eating his dinner. He was very greedy. He ate so quickly that a bone stuck in his throat. He tried hard to get it out but all was in vain.

Then he went to the crane and said, "Good morning, Crane. Will you help me to do something?"

"What can I help do you?" asked the crane.

"I have a bone stuck in my throat. You have a long bill, and so you can draw it out", said the wolf.

"If you do that for me, I will give you a reward."

"Let me try," said the crane. "It is not difficult for me to do so."

The wolf opened his mouth widely. The crane put her bill in and drew out the bone.

“Now will you give me the reward, please?” the crane asked the wolf.
 “Reward?” said the wolf. “Don’t talk about that. You should be thankful to me. Although you put your head into my mouth, I did not bite you. What more do you want?”

True Friends

Once upon a time, there were two close friends, Faris and Doni who were walking through the forest together. They knew that anything dangerous can happen to them at any time in the forest. So, they promised each other that they would be together in any case of danger.

Suddenly, they saw a large bear getting closer toward them. Faris spontaneously climbed a nearby tree at once. But unfortunately, Doni did not know how to climb up the tree. So being led by his common sense, he lay down on the ground breathless, pretending to be a dead man,

The bear came near Doni who was lying on the ground. It smelt in his ears, and slowly left the place because the bears do not want to touch the dead creatures. After that, Faris came down and asked his friend that was on the ground, "Don, what did the bear whisper into your ears?" Doni replied, "Just now he advised me not to believe a false friend."
