Queenstown, New Zealand

I've always wanted to travel "down under," and we finally made it! We arrived on the South Island after a 14-hour flight from Los Angeles. First, we stayed for a couple of days in Christchurch, and then we rented a car and drove here. It's fall in New Zealand. It feels like November does back home, and the leaves are falling. Queenstown is in the Southern Alps. The scenery is just incredible – a lake on one side and snowy peaks all around. I took a cable car up a mountain this morning. It's so beautiful.

In some ways, New Zealand is more like the U.K. than the U.S. The food is mostly British, and they love to drink tea here! I've had tea every afternoon since I arrived. A bit of a change for me – at home I always drink coffee.

We're going to Milford Sound tomorrow. That's on the west coast. People say the scenery there is like parts of Norway.
