

Task Sheet 1

Today we will learn how to write a narrative paragraph! Our topic will be about a past experience. Get ready to start!

A. You are going to read a paragraph found in your school's newspaper. It is the text your English teacher wrote when asked by students to describe her past experiences. It is entitled 'My youth holidays: Reborn in the lunar light'. Look at the pictures as well as the question posed below and guess what the text is about.

What if I told you that my youth vacations were way better than yours?

TIP

To get some ideas about the title, look at the pictures and the words lunar light and youth holidays. Then write down some notes about them. This will help you analyze the title and come up with amazing ideas! Finding who wrote it, who will read it and the purpose is also helpful!

lunar light

youth holidays

If you look at the rubric, you will see important information:

Writer: my English teacher

Reader: students in my school / readers of school newspaper.

Purpose: To describe past experiences

Do you agree? Underline the necessary words in the rubric to check!

So... What will the paragraph be about? Write your answer below:
