Mary Parker is an American entrepreneur she used to be an informatic secure agent, She got rich by creating virtual reality courses. Her family told her she never will get rich creating courses on the internet. After a while of working as an informatic agent, she got tired of listening to family's ideas and she started to make programs for helping teachers increase the learner's development. She got used to uploading lessons to develop on the websites. The site wasn't used to helping just teachers because they help everybody. She is an example of rising inside the society and many educators are used to inspiring students over the world by telling them Mary's example.
