

Choose the correct answer

Choose the correct answer application software is used only to prepare documents

Application software can be divided into two parts

Bank management systems are an example of general purpose Application Software

The software in the computer that fulfills our various needs is called application software

The mouse is a basic device required for application software

