Grounded with Gifts

The reason flights are often (1) is because airlines predict that some people may not show up for their flight. Overbooking makes sure that there are not too many (2) seats on a flight, so the airline saves (3). Unfortunately, when (4) is overbooked, some passengers who have confirmed (5) have to get off the plane.

Getting (6), however, is sometimes a good deal. Airlines offer (7) free flights, hotel rooms, and other things in exchange for the inconvenience. Airlines often ask for (8) to get off an overbooked flight in exchange for those benefits. Some people are happy to do this!
