

Reading Comprehension with verb to be in the Simple Past

Instructions: Read the email and answer the questions.

Dear Daniel,

My weekend wasn't good. It was a nightmare! As you know, I'm in a band with Holly and Leo. Well, on Saturday there was a talent contest in London. It was a big event and a great opportunity for us.

On Saturday morning, we practiced at Holly's house, and we were ready to go! Unfortunately, there was a problem with her dad's car. There weren't any taxis to take us to the station. The solution? A difficult journey on a bus with our guitars!

An hour later, we were at the train station with our tickets to London. And guess what? The train was late, but half an hour later, we were on it. The train wasn't fast. It was so slow and crowded.

At six o'clock we were finally in London. Were we on time? In your dreams! No, we weren't. We were late for the competition! I wasn't happy.

How was your weekend? Were you at home or did you go out with friends?

I hope to hear from you soon.

Best wishes,

Rebecca
