READING. Read this text and then complete tasks A and B	8 x 0.25=2 marks

Education is very important for society. It is very important in the development of the individual, too. However, there are many methods of learning and ways to develop students' abilities, so it's very difficult to decide which are the best paths to educational success. Nothing demonstrates this more than the differences between the lifestyles of high school students and university students. First of all, high school students just have to follow the rules and obey their teachers. In contrast, university students have more responsibilities than high school students. They have to be more independent and make decisions by themselves. For example, they have to manage their schedules and do assignments. Second, high school students usually have more fun than university students. Their lives are not so serious. They are free and they do more fun activities. University students, however, don't often have much free time. And they are more stressed because their exams are more difficult. In conclusion, it seems clear that different educational situations and environments are appropriate for different age groups. Perhaps, we need to try and pick the best aspects of the lifestyles of high school students and university students. Then, perhaps we will create better educational systems for the future.

Task A : Circle T for True and F for False

1	You can develop students' abilities in different ways.	T	F
2	High school students are not so independent.	T	F
3	University students enjoy themselves more than high school students.	T	F
4	High school students are not as stressed as university students.	T	F
5	This text compares the lifestyle of high school and university students.	T	F
