Riko : Hi, Berli. I heard you have been appointed the school journalist club's chairperson. Congratulations!
Berli : Thanks. You know, I like writing and want to improve students' literacy via writing.
Riko : That's great! What's your next plan?
Berli : I am going to write inspirational and motivational stories for the school magazine. I will also write great people's biographies so the students are motivated to be great ones.
Riko : Wonderful! Teenagers need to read them to raise their self motivation.
Berli : So far, only a few students have a chance to write in the school magazine. Next, I will provide them more spaces to express their ideas on writing. I will also hold a writing competition.
Riko : I agree with the idea. Many students may have talents at writing, but most of them don't have a space to express their ideas.
